

The MycoBandanna is currently sold out. When I have time, I would like to reprint it. If you are interested in collaborating with me to help reprint it sooner, please contact me.

David Pilz
PilzWald
Forestry Applications of Mycology
P.O. Box 876
Corvallis, OR 97339-0876

---

MycoBandanna©

Honoring the Great American Bandanna Tradition* with ...

CORNUCOPIAE FUNGORUM BOREO-OCCIDENS PACIFICUS

"Horns of Fungal Plenty in the Pacific Northwest"

Click here to see artwork

Larger than a handkerchief --> approximately 26 inches on a side.

Made from cotton that is organically grown & naturally hued (FoxFibre© from Mitchell Co.)

2 Color schemes --Pecan cloth / Burgundy ink or Cactus cloth / Spruce ink.

Mostly produced, translated, illustrated, hemmed, and printed in Oregon.

Dedicated to Mycologists & Mushroomers Everywhere!

What in the world do I do with a bandanna?

See "Stone Band Rings" for use as a necktie.

*Weiss, Hillary. 1990. The American bandanna: culture on cloth from George Washington to Elvis. Chronicle Books. San Francisco, CA. 119 p. [Book cover]

(The idea for the bandanna is courtesy of Dr. Cloudini's "Friends of the Sedgwick Ranch" bandanna. This first bandanna printing is strictly a not-for-profit personal project. The bandannas vary in uniformity, but that just gives them an authentic homemade quality in the grand American tradition of homegrown arts and crafts. Subsequent production runs might be more standardized, but I also might charge more. In any case, first come, first served. Have a happy choice.)